

Joanna Nader named in the Top 100 Most Influential Women in European Finance for the second year in a row

Joanna Nader, Global Head of Strategy at TP ICAP, has been named in Financial News' Top 100 Most Influential Women in Finance for the second consecutive year.

The prestigious list, which is in its 15th year, recognises women in leadership positions in the sector across Europe that demonstrate significant influence over their business area, leadership within their sector, a strong performance over the last 12 months and the capacity to shape their business over the coming year.

Joanna joined TP ICAP in 2019 and has been recognised for her success in strategic commercial partnerships and joint ventures, as well as working on the acquisition of electronic trading platform Liquidnet, which was completed in March of this year.

Prior to TP ICAP, Joanna was head of Diversified/Speciality Financials Research at RBC Capital Markets.

Joanna Nader, Global Head of Strategy at TP ICAP, said, "It's an honour to be recognised by Financial News as one of the most influential women in finance for two years in a row. Financial services is a sector that still struggles with gender diversity and highlighting senior female representation is a crucial part of overcoming that. The FN 100 list brings to life just how many talented women there are across the financial services industry, and will hopefully help to inspire future generations of female leaders."

Nominees are assessed by the FN's editorial panel.
